In 1832 in the Eastern side Caponier of the Defense Barracks a War or Fortress Bakery was set up. With the two ovens daily up to 400 breads were baked. The Bakery was set up defensible with six infantry loopholes and additional reinforcement in the area of access doors. In 1995 there was a re-commissioning. Erfurt citizens and tourists can purchase "fortress bread" here on at regular intervals.

In peacetime, much of the powder stocks were kept at a reasonable distance outside the fortress in order to minimize the damage in case of accidental explosion. On the outwork Ravelin Ansel at the side facing away from the city the Peace Powder Magazine No. 5 was built in new-Prussian style. Nowadays, one can rent the renovated building for events.
